Judge for yourself by these few examples of her art, the best magic is of course, there are no hormones used in this very class act. To be so lovely and feminine and not have to live with it 24 hours a day is truly a very special gift. I feel that Karen uses her gift in a very positive way and if you could not guess by her beauty, this kid is very kind and beautiful on the inside too!

DISCOVERY

By Kim Thompson

I inadvertently, I recently left a copy of one of the magazines laying on my dresser in the bedroom where she found it. I wasn't at home at the time and didn't know she had discovered my secret. That evening she suggested that we go out for drinks and dinner at a quiet little place with lots of atmosphere. As we drank, Julie said she wanted to talk to me about some feelings she had that perhaps I wasn't aware of. I wasn't alerted in any way as to the reasons for her to discuss anything specific.

We have always had a relationship which allowed each of us to think the way we wanted while not forcing each other to conform to the other's standards. She began talking about her college days and about some of her dating habits. Julie and I met after college and I didn't know any of her acquaintances at school.

She gradually began to describe her strong feelings about her roommates and close friends who were all women and how she felt comfortable with them. She described what she liked about the way they dressed, their hair styles, how she had helped them with their choice of clothes and had helped do their hair and nails. She even talked about how she used to help them dress and what she liked about their underwear, bras, and other things.

She said that women should wear garter belts and hose because it was so feminine and sexually stimulating. I still didn't have the slightest indication that she had discovered your magazine. But I was becoming very much aroused by the conversation and I imagine that Julie could tell by my comments and the great interest I was taking. When I stood to excuse myself to go to the restroom, I know she must have seen my swollen cock making my suit pants bulge. When I returned from the restroom, we ordered more drinks and were feeling warm and free to say the things that easily came to mind. Julie never used the word "Lesbian", but continued to talk about her feelings for women and how comfortable she was with other women. She shared with me some of her special relationships which grew into intimate situations. I realized that she was very much into loving women and enjoyed all the sexual aspects of making love with another woman.

She slowly began asking about my feelings toward women and gradually suggested that I might have a greater appreciation for her and other women if I were to adopt a more feminine thought process. She indicated that she loved the soft side of me and would like to bring more of the softness out in my dress, my actions, and my everyday lifestyle. The things she said she would for me to do expanded to include my using the bathroom sitting on the toilet instead of standing up and splattering all over. Her words were harsh as she described her dislike for the masculine way of using the bathroom. She emphasized that I would be a great deal more acceptable to her as I became more aware of her wants and desires.

This was all music to my ears. I couldn't believe I was hearing all the things that I had only fantasized about. I didn't want anything to interrupt her thinking. We ordered another drink. I suggested that we not eat dinner; that I was enjoying talking with her. She agreed that we would pass on eating and that she was feeling so very positive about our evening. She asked if I was comfortable talking about all the feminine things. She expanded the question to include talking about bras, garter belts, sanitary napkins, tampons, make-up and shoes. My assurances to her opened the door!

I didn't realize it but Julie had been leading me along a path that was increasingly exciting to me. She eased me into a confirmation that I liked and appreciated the feminine things. Then she told me that she had found the magazine before I had gotten home. My face turned red, my heart raced and I felt faint. She wanted me to be comfortable that she wasn't upset or mad. She didn't feel that I had a problem that she would have to deal with.

Julie wanted me to know that she loved me, wanted to participate in my feminization, and felt that we could become closer as a result of her finding the magazine. While I was embarrassed, I still was excited and aroused with the conversation. My imagination was expanding so fast that I was having a difficult time in listening to her words. My secret was out and I had not been punished for my actions. My fears were removed and replaced with positive and pleasant expectations. Julie was mature and loving in her expressions. I opened up completely and told her of my desires to become more feminine. I could imagine nothing I couldn't say to her. A tremendous burden was lifted from my shoulders and my mouth started to reveal my innermost feelings. Julie did not seem surprised that I expressed my urge to be more feminine. She said she had 12 months previously found a copy of a similar cross-dressing magazine and had read it very carefully from cover to cover. She related that she had been concerned initially, but had observed me in great detail and was comfortable that I would indeed make a lovely lady and made the commitment at that time to start my feminization.

She reminded me that about a year ago she had complained about my weight and had changed our eating habits. I really didn't think much about it at the time. She also reminded me of our discussions about me changing doctors so that I was receiving my physical each year from her OB/GYN. I told her that I remembered that the fees to be charged were less and the location was a great deal handier but didn't think the new doctor was significant.

Julie said that the change to her OB/GYN was part of the strategy. Her doctor was a close friend from school days and had been eager to help her when she told the doctor of my inclinations. I remember that after a thorough examination, the doctor started me on some pills and a series of shots which I thought were vitamins. Julie said the shots were concentrated female hormones and the pills were similar to birth control pills which is the reason I had to return to her OB/GYN each month. She said that my sensitive and swollen breasts were the result of the shots and pills and that the progress was doing very well. She and her doctor were pleased with my progress. The hormones were working to rearrange my body fat to more closely resemble that of a woman. The big swings in my emotions lately had been the result of the hormones and was something I would have to get used to. My crying for virtually no reason was caused by the treatments. My emotions are more apparent and volatile now that I am becoming more feminine in my thinking.

Julie shared with me about her gradually starting my feminine education. She could recognize the effect of the shots and pills and soon began to include me on her shopping trips. She reminded me of the times we spent choosing various lipsticks and eye shadows at the grocery store. In each case she asked me to carry her purse so that nobody would steal it. Increasingly I became comfortable in carrying the purse.

She reminded me of the discussions we would have about the color and texture of the make-up and how she would sometimes apply the foundation to the skin of my arm to check the color. She was always talking about the way to apply the make-up and what colors went together. She would suggest that some colors looked sexy and others looked more conservative for day time use. We joked that I frequently expressed a preference for some of the gaudier colors and combinations and she would have to remind me that the

SHE-MALE SHOPPING

By Rachel

Dear Kim,

I've been out shopping all day. My final stop is a high-fashion department store. It's 6 pm and the store has now closed. I've hidden behind a rack of clothes, hoping no one has seen me. The lights have now went down. I wait until I hear the doors lock as the final employee leaves. Now I am all alone in the store.

First I go to the makeup counter and touch up my makeup beautifully. Eye-liner, blush a fresh layer of mascara, lipstick and I'm all set. Then I head to the lingerie department. I start trying on matching bra and panty sets. I try on sets made of cotton, satin, lace, and all other types of material. Some of the bras hook in front, some in back. The colors include pink, taupe, white, red, cream and black. I also try on multiple floral patterned sets. I leave on the cream colored matching bra and panty set with lace trim. I select several bra/panty sets and put them in my shopping bag. Now I'm off to the hosiery section. Here I try on various textures, styles, and types of pantyhose. I select several pairs in colors like white, suntan, black, nude, etc. I sit down and slowly put on the pure silk pair on my freshly shaven legs. They are white and sheer-to-waist. As I pull them up and over my panties, I can sense all my nerve endings from my hips down to my toes standing on end. I run my hands from my toes to my waist to get out any little ripples in the hose. Then I caress my firm cheeks to feel the silk pantyhose and satin panties against my behind. I take several pairs of pantyhose and thigh top stockings with me. I head back to the lingerie area where I need to pickup a couple of slips, camisoles, and tap pants. Again, I try on several matching sets and choose a white set, that I know will go perfect underneath most anything. The slip has a slit in it for comfort, the camisole has adjustable straps and they're both made of satin. I am now off to the dress department.

Here I try on "career-girl" dresses and select a red one with black accents. I also take a one-piece made of multiple colors that can easily be worn at work and then to an evening out. I've always enjoyed the business woman look. Time to move on to the semi-formal dresses. I have lots of fun here, trying on all sorts of styles of dresses. Some real low cut, tight-fitting, mini's. Some formal party dresses, with tiers of flounces and pouffy sleeves. I select an off the shoulder black one-piece dress. Also, a white one-piece dress with 4 tiers of flounces and tiered sleeves. I decide to wear the white dress now and slip it on over my cami and tap pant set. The layers of material from my panties out to my dress feel delicious. As I move, I make a swishing sound as lace and satin rub against each other underneath my dress. I then pick out several pairs of shoes, mostly pumps in white and black. I do also pick a red pair. Heels are s-

4". I slip on the white pair and am ready to go. A beautiful, young, confident woman. At that moment, I turn around and find the store manager standing there.

She is in her 30's, blonde, with a very nice figure. She says she has seen everything I have done by watching the security camera's, and is extremely turned on. Instead of busting me, she wants to get it on with me. She comes up and kisses me. she sticks her tongue right in my mouth and I eagerly suck on it. Her name is Marcia. we take all the clothes I have selected and go to her office. It has a huge desk in it and is tastefully decorated, with a feminine touch. Marcia takes off her skirt and has on tap pants, a white garterbelt, and tan stockings. My own female scented crotch is on fire as I watch her. she then takes off her blouse to reveal a white satin bra with a pair of 38D boobs just dying to come out. She comes over to me and rubs her hand on my crotch while I suck on her tongue. I am still dressed completely in the white cocktail dress, hose, heels and made up beautifully. As I press my "female" form against hers, Marcia says, "Oh, baby. I just love the feeling of you against me. I want to taste you all over." With that, she helps me unzip the dress and take it off, followed by my camisole and tap pants. My firm, hairless body now stands before her in just bra, panties, pantyhose and heels. Of course, my face and hair are ravishing.

Marcia begins to caress my breasts thru the satin bra my hard nipples strain to be set free. she now lays on her huge desk and wants to taste my genitalia. I pull down my pantyhose and panties to release my love tool. I lower myself onto her face as she wets her lips with anticipation. She begins to suck on me. I get long and hard as her mouth surrounds my she-dick and her saliva-lubricated finger slowly slips into my sweet, round bottom. She takes every inch of me into her moist mouth, as I moan with delight. After several minutes of us doing this, she asks that I get off the desk and bend over. By now, I would do anything she asks. she begins to run her tongue down my back right to the crack of my virgin behind. she spreads my soft, white cheeks and slowly runs her tongue around my love hole. Marcia then goes down a little further so her nose is rubbing the bud of my hole. She takes several deep breaths to smell my female-like inner essence. With each sniff, she moans that much more. after that, she takes her tongue and slowly inserts it into my feminine-scented derriere. She brings her tongue in and out, flicking it inside of me as I try to grab it with my "pussy" muscles. She finally pulls her tongue out with a final little flick on the way out. How yummy she says I am. I am so turned on I can't stand it. My virgin love hole feels hot, slick and moist. I'm thinking she wants to taste me again. Instead, I feel something entering me. It's a cock! I thought I was with a woman, but was I wrong! A new, and lusty, sexual feeling now rushes thru my body upon realizing a she-male is loving me. I feel a little discomfort as she slowly eases her meat into my tight, virgin love canal. As I relax my muscles, more and more of her fills me up. she moans as I tell her I'm a virgin and she is deflowering me. Her cock begins to glide easily in and out of me. with every stroke, she nearly pulls it out, then slides it back in deep. I moan as she starts to pump me. At the same time, she has reached around to caress my female tool. As I grow larger, she slams me harder. she now takes my rock hard tool in one hand and with her other hand, begins caressing my breasts. My nipples are sticking out like grapes as she moves her fingers from one to another. Just as I am about to explode, Marcia slows down the stroking on my cock. She begins to pump me harder and harder. I sense she wants us to orgasm together. What a tantalizing (and delicious) thought. Marcia, the beautiful she-male, is starting to moan louder. she picks up the pace of stroking me. I feel the head of her cock expand inside of me and know she is about to explode. I feel I can no longer control myself. I am lost deep in the thoughts of she-male ecstasy. As I explode, I feel her cock doing the same deep inside of me. Her creamy juices flow deep inside of me, warming my bowels, and flowing nearly into my tummy. I sense I can actually "taste" her inside of me. Her huge cock twitches deep inside me as she squirts her juices into me several more times. At this time, I notice I have continued to drain my tool all over her desk. As her cock exits my sweet, love-scented behind, I squirt once again, thinking of the mutual orgasm we shared. As my body quivers with delight, I turn around to face her. we both gently caress each others tools as our tongues slide in and out of each others mouth. I notice the tasty aroma of our feminine scents mixed with sexual delights. what an evening out shopping...

colors made a girl look "cheap". Julie always uses a lip liner after she applies a lip-fix so that the lipstick doesn't bleed. Increasingly I was comfortable with her discussions and participated without suspecting that she had a bigger plan.

We laughingly remembered the many times she would send me to the store to purchase feminine items for her. She did it on purpose to continue with my feminization. I became more comfortable purchasing tampons as well as Kotex and the other feminine napkins. She changed brands regularly to create the opportunity for me to learn more about the way those items were used. I just thought that she couldn't make up her mind as I stood in the aisle reading the instructions.

We talked about the times she would take me with her as she was purchasing panties and bras. She would describe the types she wanted and why they would be best for her outfits. We talked about the way each type fit and how bad they looked if the fit was not correct. We discussed the sizes and straps and adjustments. The shop she visited most of the time had private dressing rooms which allowed her to include me in the dressing room. I remembered the discussions about the fit of her bras and the effect they would have on her blouses and dresses. I also remembered that she was friends with the store owner, Pam, but didn't really pay any attention to that. Julie said that Pam had been one of her feminine lovers in school and they were still quite close. Pam knew why Julie wanted me in the dressing rooms and what Julie was doing to my masculinity. As we talked about the clothing store, I was increasingly aware of Pam's involvement in my education process. Her involvement supported the education part of the process and reinforced the feeling that Julie was not going to force my feminization but instead was going to encourage it by increasing my involvement. I know I will get to know Pam a lot better in the months to come. Her store carries my sizes and she is definitely committed to making a woman out of Julie's husband. And I'm looking forward to it.

The evening of drinks and confrontation was 6 months ago or 18 months from the initial discovery and starting the treatments. My life has changed. Julie has taken charge of our marriage and my life. I becoming the feminine soul I always wanted to be, thanks to the magazine. She is controlling all aspects of my development and is doing a fantastic job of it.

My hair continues to grow longer and now covers my ears so that folks don't see that I have had them pierced. My hair has been cut in a unisex way so that she can fix it in a feminine style each evening and on the week-ends. She has taught me how to shampoo and condition to get just the right styling. My hair shines and falls gently to my shoulders. The lady who does Julie's hair does mine. She knows who I am and enjoys talking with me as she does the styling every two weeks. She has tried several different styles and, as the hair gets longer, she is slowly making the color increasingly blonde. I am still having difficulty in understanding the correct way to roll my hair and cause the curls to hang in just a special way. The hair dresser helps with the instructions, but I just don't seem to have the feel for it yet. I know I will improve with time. As my hair becomes longer and is prettier, fixing it is more fun. I love the more exotic styles, and long to have the ability to style it completely myself. I see the special hair styles in the fashion magazines and can only hope that mine can look that good soon.

My nails are done each week, but we must use clear polish on my fingernails for now but my toenails can be painted a beautiful color. Each time I ask for longer nails but am told that the length can't be too obvious. I hope my nails are strong enough to be worn long. If not, Julie says that I will have to wear false nails which her nail lady administers. For longer holidays, she has had the synthetic nails built-up on my fingers and I love it. The long nails look so feminine and classy. We coordinate with the salon so that color can be painted on my fingernails late in the evening and we can go straight home afterward. Perhaps the other ladies in the salon don't know that I am not a lady because I wear a loose blouse, slacks, and earrings when I get my nails done. Open toed sandals with high heels allow me to leave the salon without messing my toenails.

My skin is becoming softer as I rub moisturizing creams into it each morning and evening. I am loving the increase in sensitivity of my breasts; the size of them seems to be growing. My bras seem to fit a little better. Julie had Pam, her friend with the clothing store, fit me for two breast prostheses early on and they seem to look realistic. They are heavy and feel like real titties. She suggested that I start with a "B" size bra and purchased the prosthesis in a size "B". I think that a "D" would be sexier and more feminine. I think ladies with full breasts are more feminine and sexy and make clothes look so much better. My size "B" bras are looking and feeling a little tight and full as I wear my breast prosthesis with my enlarging natural breasts. But, perhaps Julie is right. Maybe ladies don't always have the big breasts I fantasize about. I'll let her decide.

I wear a sanitary napkin each time Julie has her period and on the lighter days of her cycle, we each use a tampon and a panty-liner. The special napkins designed for "overnight" are especially perfect because they are so thick, and conform to my body with elastic sides to contain the leaking.

I help Julie in all her personal hygiene. She allows me to assist her when she douches. I open the small prepared douches and place the nozzle inside her as she sits on the toilet seat. I squeeze the bottle as the liquid runs inside her and runs out into the commode. She smells so sweet and clean as I pat her bottom dry with tissues.

I also douche when she does. Julie fills her douche bottle and inserts it into my "pussy". She repeats it several times until I am full. If she wants me to feel full for an extended period of time, she places a "butt plug" into my "pussy" afterwards. My sanitary napkin catches any leaks I might have. I know that I feel the same "fullness" she feels and I enjoy the feminine feelings of the changes within me. As I become more lady-like, my "pussy" is becoming more sensitive. I love the feeling of the douche nozzle inside me. I know the feeling of a large male cock will feel even better. I fantasize about douching prior to my first date when I loose my virginity. I will want to be extra clean and lubricated. A lady should always be squeaky clean with just the right amount of feminine lubrication so that the penetration can be smooth and not hurt my date. I get excited thinking about the satisfaction I will give my date.

I am learning that I have not only the ability to wear a tampon and douche, but also the need to control my large manhood. We are going to travel to New York City soon in anticipation of purchasing a "gaff" which will control me so that the panty line and/or skirt line is not interrupted with my swollen cock. She hides my cock between my ass cheeks at the present time. I would love to have a special ribbon which would hold my manhood back away from my pubic area so that my pubic area looks as feminine as possible. I hope the place she is taking me has lots of nice things to make me more feminine, maybe even a corset with laces to make my waist smaller. My diet is reducing my waist so that a strong corset should make my waist like a wasp with the fat pushed down to my hips and up to my chest.

Julie and I are not only husband and wife, we are best friends, lovers, girl friends, and partners. Julie as feminine as I can be but still have a hard cock hidden under all my lady-like clothing. She is searching for a doctor who will assist in my transformation so that I become increasingly feminine while still retaining my sexual drive and hard cock. Her OB/GYN is assisting her in finding the best choice. I want to become exactly what she wants. I am hers to do with what she sees fit. We are not overly concerned about my appearance outside of the home at this point. I still look masculine enough when I workout it. My walking in high heels is beginning to influence my walk enough that I have to be alert to revert back to the male gait. As a male, I wear masculine glasses which help cover my slightly arching eyebrows. Hopefully I will be able to concentrate exclusively on my feminine self soon.

Julie and I have discussed my progress into femininity and feel that we will continue. Each day we have class-time to teach me things that Julie knows so naturally. My make-up technique is improving. The birth control pills seem to be making my beard lighter. I am blonde so the whiskers don't show much anyway. We think that eventually I can dress as a feminine self all the time. My job doesn't pay nearly as much as Julie's and we could do quite well with only her income while I stay home and become the homemaker of the family. Julie has suggested that I could take employment as a member of her office staff when I get used to wearing my nails longer. She has even suggested that I might become her secretary without anyone else knowing it. I think I would like working for her at her office. I'll leave that up to her. She is increasingly making all the decisions for the two of us and I love it.

Julie wants me to become as feminine as I can. She continues to restrict my diet to control my weight. She has developed an exercise schedule which is slimming my waist while developing my chest. My legs are firming up and look fantastic in garter belt, hose, and 5 inch heels. Regular waxing of my legs makes them look really good. I also wax around the bikini line so that I don't ruin the look of my pretty panties. My new "gaff" should assist in the image. I have become so experienced with waxing that Julie allows me to tend her. I do her beautiful legs all the way up to her sex area. I have shaped her pubic hair into a heart shape and have waxed all the extra hair away. She really looks great. I enjoy taking care of her feminine hygiene. I give her each bath and apply lotions and powder to her smooth body.

I close this letter with my thanks, again, for your magazine. I would still be a cross-dressing guy with all sorts of inhibitions forced to stay in the closet if it weren't for the magazine. Thanks! If you feel that printing my letter will assist a closet TV to continue to plan his coming out, please do so. I am 39 years old and very much would like to help other TVs. If you print the letter, please send a copy of your magazine with my letter in it so I'll be able to have it for my library. Thanks.
